Charges Murrow
Advised Students to Attend Moscow U.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy charged Thursday night that Adlai E. Stevenson made "false" statements against him and that CBS commentator Edward R. Murrow once advised students to attend Moscow University.

To a charge by Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) that he has been diverting public attention from the danger of Communists abroad, McCarthy quoted Abraham Lincoln's statement that if the nation ever is destroyed "it will be from within."

McCarthy fired the accusations in a national radio program made available to him to reply to the recent heavy criticism he has received from Stevenson, Murrow, Flanders and others.

Murrow snapped back that the statement about him was nothing more than McCarthy's "latest reckless handling of the truth." He announced he would deal "adequately" with it on his CBS radio newscast tonight (7:45 p. m. EST).

McCarthy never mentioned President Eisenhower although he said earlier he might reply to the Chief Executive who declared Wednesday that Flanders did a "service" in his speech, which also accused McCarthy of trying to "shatter" the Republican Party.

But McCarthy did say he has disagreed with his fellow Republicans before and "will disagree with them again" because he places his country above party.

In response to questions from his program host, MBS commentator Fulton Lewis Jr., McCarthy attacked Stevenson's now-celebrated speech against McCarthyism last Saturday.

He said he has uncovered a "long list" of Communists in spite of what Stevenson said to the contrary. He cited what he said were three examples. He also said it was "completely false" for Stevenson to say he has been in effect warring on the Army with his investigation of Red infiltration of the military.

But McCarthy reserved his hardest punches for Murrow who sharply criticized the Wisconsin Republican's methods in a full-length television feature earlier this week.

A Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph story on Feb. 18, 1953, McCarthy declared, listed Murrow as assistant director of the National Advisory Council of the Institute of International Education. As such, he said, Murrow advised students to attend a Moscow University summer school which, the story said, teaches "the violent overthrow of the entire traditional social order."

"This may explain why Edward R. Murrow week after week feels that he must smear McCarthy," the senator said.

In New York, Murrow said the institute sponsored an exchange of students between the United States and foreign countries and that the summer school cited actually was cancelled by Russian authorities before it began.

Brothers Find
Body of Eldorado
High Sophomore

No Reason Can
Be Found for Act,
Coroner Says

The body of a 16-year-old Eldorado Township high school sophomore was found hanging from a tree in his back yard late yesterday. Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons last night said that no reason could be found for the act.

He was Medford Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Bennett, who live in Raleigh township a quarter of a mile north of Karel park. Mr. Bennett is employed at the Illinois Public Aid commission office here.

"The boy got up yesterday in fine spirits, washed the breakfast dishes for his mother and caught the school bus to ETHS. He came home on the bus yesterday afternoon, when his parents were not at home. The father and mother came home around 6 p. m.

No Reason for Hanging

The two younger children, Michael, 8, and Darrell, 3, were playing in the yard and saw their older brother hanging from a tree about 50 feet from the house. They called their parents, who cut down the body. There was a noose around the boy's neck.

Gibbons said that questioning revealed no reason for the hanging.

The body was taken to the County funeral home at Galatia, where it will lie in state. The funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Church of Christ, 215 South Granger street in Harrisburg, with Glen Cook officiating.

2 Paratroopers
Killed, 30 Hurt
During Exercise

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) — The Army has begun an immediate investigation of the deaths of two paratroopers and injury of 30 others Thursday as some 9,000 men jumped into mock battles of "exercise longthrust."

An Army spokesman said some of the injuries occurred when the men hit trees in parachuting from about 200 C19 Flying Boxcars and giant C122 assault aircraft in the spectacular airborne attack upon mock "aggressor" forces.

Investigators will seek to determine the causes of the deaths and the other injuries which occurred as the 82nd Airborne Division staged the biggest peacetime airland operation in the nation's history.

The two paratroopers killed were identified as Pfc. Joseph J. Hamel, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hamel, Claremont, N. H., and Pvt. Junior L. Cooper, 23, husband of Mrs. Reva Cooper, Whiteville, Tenn.

Rehearsal for Exercise

One of the injured soldiers was critically hurt, the Army said. He was identified as Pvt. Romeo Paradise, son of Victor Paradise, Nashua, N. H. The Army said none of the others was in serious condition.

The two paratroopers killed were identified as Pfc. Joseph J. Hamel, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hamel, Claremont, N. H., and Pvt. Junior L. Cooper, 23, husband of Mrs. Reva Cooper, Whiteville, Tenn.

264 Persons Hit
By Radioactive
Dust in A-Blast

No Burns, But Congressmen Demand
Report on Incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy has called for a report on why 264 persons were accidentally spewed with radioactive dust during the recent atomic tests in the Pacific, it was learned today.

Committee members generally were inclined to blame a sudden change in weather conditions. But they want to be sure that no negligence was involved.

Informants sources revealed they asked the Atomic Energy Commission for a report Thursday night shortly after the AEC confirmed the incident.

The commission said in a statement that 264 persons, including 28 Americans, were "unexpectedly exposed to radioactivity" during "routine atomic tests" in the Marshall Islands. They had been moved from neighboring atolls to Kwajalein Island "as a precautionary measure."

"There were no burns," said the AEC. "All are reported well. After completion of the atomic tests, they will be returned to their homes."

The AEC announced the first of the current test explosions on March 1. Although it did not say what kind of shot it was, it is known that the primary purpose of the current experiments is to perfect hydrogen bombs.

The blast is reported to have been far more powerful than expected. But the granddaddy of them all is not expected to come until next month, although it could be touched off somewhat earlier if weather conditions are right.

The commission's announcement Thursday night came after the radioactive exposure incident had been disclosed in letters Marine Cpl. Don Whitaker wrote to his mother, Mrs. G. R. Whitaker of Cincinnati, Ohio.

One member of the joint congressional committee said privately that he feared the incident is just what the Russians need to charge that the United States is recklessly exposing innocent people to death or injury. It would be used to back up its American war mongering charges.

Other members were critical of the AEC for letting the story leak from an untrained, uninformed source. They said the AEC should have made the facts public promptly.

None of them were inclined to demand any scalps about the handling of the test, however. There was some feeling the experimenters would be lucky there haven't been some real mishaps before this.

Three Suspended
By IPAC, Are Back on Jobs

Three members of the Saline County Welfare department suspended by the Illinois Public Aid Commission for 30 days last month were back on the job this week and it was revealed that a hearing would be held in Harrisburg for two others discharged last October.

The assault which got underway shortly before dawn Thursday was the 82nd's last major rehearsal for "exercise flashburn" next month, when 60,000 men will take part in a field exercise stressing atomic weapons.

The Army released a partial list of other injured, including:

Cpl. David Klesser, 26, St. Louis; Pvt. Charles H. Bartley, 19, Chicago.

Pfc. Ronald J. Keneipp, 18, Boone, Iowa.

'Blackmail' is
McCarthy Reply
To Army Report

Committee Counsel
Denies Making
Any 'Absurd' Threats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today accused the Army of trying to "blackmail" him into calling off an investigation of Communists.

That was McCarthy's answer to a 34-page Army report that McCarthy's subcommittee counsel, Roy M. Cohn, threatened to "wreck the Army" if the Army did not give special favors to Cohn's friend and former subcommittee aide, G. David Schine. Schine was indicted in the Army last fall.

Cohn, sitting beside McCarthy at a news conference, denied he made any such "absurd" threats.

The Army report said McCarthy himself at one time tried to get the Army to give Schine a commission, but at other times had called him a "pest" and told the Army to pay no attention to Cohn's demands.

Demands Firing

McCarthy made his statement after a Republican member of his subcommittee — Sen. Charles E. Potter (Mich.) — demanded that Cohn be fired if the Army's charges are true.

The three Democratic members — Sens. John L. McClellan (Ark.), and Stuart Symington (Mo.) — said in a joint statement that the Army's "revelations should engage the prompt attention and consideration" of the group. They said they "assume" McCarthy will call an early meeting to discuss the Army report.

McCarthy said Army Counselor John G. Adams came to his apartment in December and indicated "not in so many words" — that the Army was compiling a report of Cohn's activities in behalf of Schine and would release it to embarrass the subcommittee unless the group dropped its investigation of alleged Communist infiltration of Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Says Story Is False

Cohn told the United Press he has not resigned or offered to resign.

McCarthy said Adams' story about Cohn's influence attempts is "false." He said "I believe in what Roy Cohn has told me."

The Wisconsin Republican said "so far as I'm concerned, I hope Roy Cohn will be around Capitol Hill for a long time fighting Communist infiltration. I don't think anyone is disliked more by the Communists than Roy Cohn unless it is FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover."

Cohn is 27; Schine, 26. The two bachelors first attracted public attention last spring when they made a quick trip through Europe for the McCarthy committee. One former State Department official called them "junketeering gumshoes."

Potter said in a statement the report "carries most shocking charges."

Should Ascertain Facts

"Assuming the information is accurate," he said, "Mr. Cohn should be removed immediately. If the information is without foundation, however, then in all fairness to Mr. Cohn and the subcommittee, the facts should be ascertained without delay."

Potter said he had appealed to McCarthy Thursday for an immediate closed session to discuss the issue.

"I am wholeheartedly in accord

A belated inquest held up while poisoning, the autopsy report from Carbondale stated.

Dr. Lee Pearce of the hospital testified that Randall told him while a patient that he became thirsty while working alone on a night shift for the Blevins Popeen Co. at Ridgway on Nov. 28 and went to a pump to get himself a drink of water.

The pump was frozen, Pearce said Randall told him, but he saw a bottle of clear liquid on the well curb. Figuring it was water left there because of the condition of the pump

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
ODwyer Planning To Return To USA; Former Mayor Hits Graft In NYC Building Contracts; Current City Officials Had First Jobs Under ODwyer.

WASHINGTON.—The other day I flew down to Mexico City to interview Bill O'Dwyer, sometimes called the most mysterious man of American politics.

The former mayor of New York City had not granted an interview since he retired as U. S. ambassador to Mexico and chose, at least temporarily, to live there, rather than return to the United States.

I had known of Bill O'Dwyer when the State Department described him as the most popular and effective ambassador since Joseph Daniels. I had known him personally when he was in charge of Roosevelt's committee to help Jewish refugees escape the prison camps and soap factories of Adolf Hitler. I had also known him when, as a brigadier general in the army, he had helped rebuild Italy.

And, like a lot of other people, I wondered why he did not come back to New York.

The answer can't be given in a single sentence or a single paragraph—except to say that he is coming back, and did come back to meet me in Miami when some technicalities in our TV interview developed and it had to be re-filmed.

ODwyer's Marriage

I suppose that part of the answer to the mystery of Bill O'Dwyer is found in the old French adage, cherchez la femme. In brief, he got married to Sloan Simpson, a girl half his age, and there seldom has been a marriage that more cruelly and sensationally went on the rocks. At first it was just the opposite. Sloan was the toast of Mexico; later her flirtations were the talk of Mexico.

At the very height of this gossip when he needed a wife most, Ambassador O'Dwyer flew back to New York—of his own volition—to testify before the Kefauver committee. There he was grilled by Rudolph Halle, the man who later developed aspired to become mayor of New York, and was using the Kefauver committee as a springboard. O'Dwyer was suffering from pneumonia at the time and his temperature was 101, though his doctor didn't know this until later.

Specifically O'Dwyer was grilled about James J. Moran, his deputy fire commissioner who later went to jail for perjury and extortion. Moran had been close to O'Dwyer, though not a bit closer than J. Russell Srague and N. Y. Secretary of State Curran and some of the other men who boosted Tom Dewey up the political ladder and who have now been exposed as having their hands in the race-track till.

N. Y. CITY GRAFT

When I asked O'Dwyer about some of these things, he said he still could not understand Moran, that he had always trusted him. "As far as Dewey is concerned," he added, "you have to judge him on his accomplishments, not the men around him. The head of any state or city can't always know everything that's going on around him, and you can't hold Dewey responsible for what some of his friends did."

Discussing graft in New York City politics, O'Dwyer said:

"The biggest graft is in contracts-building contracts. That's the case not only in New York City but any city. The contractors will swarm around your office, if you give them a chance, ready to do anything for you."

"But I continued Bob Moses in the job of handling contracts, and not a five-cent piece went wrong out of more than a billion dollars."

In that connection, it's important to note that O'Dwyer built more schools, more hospitals and more public housing than any other mayor in New York's history—even more than Fiorello La Guardia. He made a crusade of his building program.

He also pointed out that he had appointed the present mayor of New York, Bob Wagner, to his first New York City job, and that Dr. Luther Gulick, now administrator of New York City and acclaimed by Republicans and Democrats alike, had first been appointed by O'Dwyer. Another man he appointed, Charles Preusse, is now assistant administrator.

I asked O'Dwyer about the problem of race-track gambling and a proposal of his which had caused headaches and criticism.

"People will gamble," he said. "They gamble in New York or any other place. And I thought that since they're bound to gamble, why not make it legal and take it away from the underworld. By that I meant, put it under state control. When I proposed this, I got a storm of criticism. But since then I notice that today some of the newspapers have come round to that point of view."

MEXICAN ACCLAIM

In Mexico City they crowd around Bill O'Dwyer in restaurants or in the American club as if he were still ambassador. He's so popular that it's embarrassing to the new ambassador, Francis White.

Sitting with O'Dwyer in the office where he practices law with a Mexican partner, you can understand why he both enjoys Mexico and why he does not go back to New York until he gets good and ready.

There's not only the heartache connected with the wife who walked out when the going was tough, but there are other sentimental reasons.

Most Irish are sentimental, and Bill O'Dwyer perhaps is more so than most. Born in Ireland, migrating to Brooklyn where he became a cop, a district attorney, a judge, and one of the most popular mayors in recent history, O'Dwyer was heartbroken when the city for which he had built so many schools, hospitals and housing turned against him. In a few short days the papers which had been eulogizing him were castigating him—over one man, Moran.

Overnight his years of service were forgotten. He had broken up the worst crime ring in New York history—Murder, Inc. He had convicted killers responsible for 70 murders. Yet the city condemned him because one man in his administration had turned sour.

Now he sees the men around Dewey who have turned sour, and you can understand why the ex-mayor of New York feels a little bitter and why he stays in a country where people appreciate him, where when he walks down the street he's acclaimed a hero.

"I'm coming back to New York," he told me, "when the snow gets off the carbarns and when business brings me back. Or even if business doesn't bring me back, I'll be there when the Dodgers win the World Series."

My own guess is that he'll come back later this year.

Looking At Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK
Although the Mt. Vernon regional is almost ancient history now, a couple notations crop up that demand a hearing here. First and foremost is comment from Lew Winkler's column in the Wayne County Record, concerning Fairfield's bout with Harrisburg which the Bull Dogs took in the closing seconds. Winkler says, in part:

"We were out-roughed," was one comment of Coach June L. Gross. Pre-game predictions suggested the affair would border on the rough-and-tumble. It did. Harrisburg's "burly sophomore" Tony Beal, recently compared to a diesel locomotive thundering through a bunch of junior prom decorations, finally went out on the five-foul track, but not before he'd done a good share of bone cracking under the baskets.

"Also, (and while the clock consumed vital seconds) the refs had a confab about who knocked the ball out of bounds during final flurry. Harrisburg got the nod, but the rules call for a jump ball. Gray, those close to the scene say, had been dribbling the same way all evening. We're not saying these things are good or bad, or they were chief reasons Fairfield lost. They are merely pointed out as happening."

(Don't go away, there's more). "As a matter of fact, the one-point loss was a pretty good way to wind up the current season. Far better to talk about that one-point defeat after leading all the way than to talk about a 26-point defeat at the hands of Mt. Vernon."

Ouch! "Burly" Beal can't hold a candle to "Windy" Winkler, when it comes to slinging 'em right and left. We noted the columnist made no mention of the four points Harrisburg spotted Fairfield. We do, however, agree with Winkler that Curt Tannahill's absence in the closing minutes probably spelled the difference. Tannahill turned in a fine performance until ejected via the foul route. But alas, 'tis more honorable to have been bumped by Rams than kicked by Mules, no matter the score. Wait and see.

McLeansboro, which wasn't slated to have too much trouble with Wayne City, collided with towering Jim Stutts on one of his best nights. The 6-ft. 10½-in. Stutts set a new Verois gym scoring record by hooping 13 field goals and 12 free throws for 38 points, breaking the former record of 36 established by Max Hooper against Sparata in 1950.

Shawneetown proved once again it was a "Cinderella team" by downing unsuspecting Eldorado, 50-42, but the Indians could not match

Triple Header at Galatia Saturday Night For Band Uniform Fund

A triple header basketball affair is planned for this Saturday night at the Galatia high school gymnasium with proceeds from the event to go toward purchasing band uniforms.

Litchfield To Play Decatur

Litchfield, ranked No. 7 down-state team in the final ratings of the United Press Board of Coaches, barely survived a test against Taylorville at Vandalia, winning 45-44.

Hoopston's Cornjerkers had to go into an overtime to down perennial contender Champaign 67-65 on the Champaign court, earning a berth against Danville in the championship game.

Maywood Proviso and Evanston, two Chicago Suburban League teams, collided for the third time this season with Proviso capturing the rubber game 61-58. Proviso tackles once-beaten Barrington in the Arlington Heights windup.

Centralia Edges Marion

At West Frankfort, Centralia recorded its third win in four tries against Marion, but had to go the limit to do so, with a 74-70 count. Centralia meets Pinckneyville in one of the sectional standouts.

Cicer Morton, conqueror of mighty La Grange last Friday, counted the biggest margin of victory Thursday night in walloping Kankakee St. Patrick 72-40 at Aurora. The Mustangs square off with Thornton of Harvey for the Aurora laurels.

Mt. Carmel Faces Rams
De Kalb's Barbz breezed by Rochelle 74-59 at Rockford, and next face the highly regarded Rockford East team for the right to represent that area at Champaign. De Kalb has 21 wins in 28 games.

Pinckneyville, Centralia To Clash in Sectional Final at West Frankfort

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Thirty downstate teams will duel tonight for berths in the 1954 "Sweet Sixteen" of Illinois prep basketball. Battle lines were drawn up Thursday night with the completion of first round games in the 15 sectional tournaments.

Victors in the championship contests, together with the Chicago titlist, mix in the state finals at Champaign next week. Du Sable and Lake View collide for Chicago honors late today.

Maywood Proviso, Hoopston, Litchfield and Centralia all pulled close triumphs out of the fire in sectional eliminations Thursday night.

Cicer Morton, Mount Carmel, Jacksonville, Princeton, Monmouth, Lawrenceville, Pekin, De Kalb, Lincoln, Moline and East St. Louis registered wins by more comfortable margins.

Litchfield To Play Decatur

Litchfield, ranked No. 7 down-state team in the final ratings of the United Press Board of Coaches, barely survived a test against Taylorville at Vandalia, winning 45-44.

Dees Scores

Three Davenport gymnasium records were broken last night in the Mt. Carmel triumph. Fans who went to see the 6-8 Dees play were not disappointed because the Dees played well enough to break the individual scoring record in the gym. It breaks the previous record of 33 points set by Bob Orto and Sammy Duane, both of Galatia, in the Saline County tournament in January. Mt. Carmel's 97 points broke the old mark of 91 held by Galatia, and the total points in the game, 165, bested the old record of 163.

Dees equalled his best night with his 46 points. He made that first when a sophomore on the Grayville team. His high during his junior and senior years at Mt. Carmel was 42 points, made this season.

Last Game in First Quarter

In breaking the mark, Dees left the game with five minutes to go when Coach Roy Gatewood took out his first team, which had played that far intact, and put in his second team. He broke the old record of 33 midway in the third quarter.

Of course, Dees isn't the entire Mt. Carmel team but his presence sure helps the Wabash county cause. In Gill Ring the Aces have one of the best "feeders" in the business, he being the boy who gets the good passes into Archie under the basket. Jack Brown and Curt Perry also show up well.

Mounds Douglass seemed sentimental favorite among the non-partisans—or near non-partisans. It was a tiny team but quite active with some very good shots. The boys were alert and they kept the ball moving. Tallest man on the squad was Arnell Chaney, a substitute. Some humor was injected into the serious proceedings when Emerald Shelby, a Mounds regular although but five feet, four inches tall, made the center jump against 6-8 Dees at the outset of each quarter.

Expect Big Crowd Tonight

Coach Dan Flaherty had a couple of very fine shots in Lowell Morris, who had 23 points, and London Branch, with 17.

The Douglass crew played nippertuck with the Aces for the entire first quarter, and was behind but 17-15 when the second period opened. However, the Aces outscored the boys from the south the second frame, 24-15, to ice the game. They led 41-30 at halftime.

Cardinals Lose, 4-1

Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants, to date one of the most disappointing teams in the Grapefruit League, refused to become alarmed.

"There's nothing to worry about—these games don't count," he said. "In fact, I believe the boys are in better shape than they were at the same stage of spring training a year ago."

Inhibitors

There are a number of chemicals which keep fats and oils from becoming rancid. They are called inhibitors and are used extensively in compounding automobile motor oils, but they are not edible and so cannot be used to preserve fats used in cooking. However, there are certain natural materials, such as Vitamin E and oat flour which have some value in the latter application.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON 25—Backstairs at the White House:

Mrs. Eisenhower's stock with members of the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Club skyrocketed recently when she refused firmly to interfere with one of their stag parties.

It happened this way: The President a few weekends ago was thinking about a hurried trip to his favorite golf course in Georgia. He telephoned the Augusta Club to make arrangements.

At the time, the club was having its annual members' jamboree, a strictly stag affair.

One of the club officials said something reservedly that while it was a party for men only, the members would make an exception for Mrs. Ike.

The President said he'd better talk it over with his wife. A short time later, there was another call from the White House to the Augusta National.

"No, indeed," was the message from Mrs. Eisenhower, "no exceptions will be made for me."

Consequently, the word from the club is that Mrs. Eisenhower is at the very top of the members' popularity lists because they had wondered how to explain it to their own wives if the jamboree had become not quite-so stag.

The four Step brothers, incredibly high speed dancers who appeared before the President here last week, use a generous sprinkling of bop talk in their conversation.

Generally speaking, the presidency becomes more restrictive with every passing year, thanks to such things as gun-toting Puerto Ricans and the steady increase in the size of Washington.

Presidents from Lincoln through Wilson walked frequently through the shopping area, browsing in the downtown stores. President Arthur once went to a ceremony at the Navy yard aboard a public, horse-drawn streetcar.
